

GOVERNMENT DEFICIT OF THREE BILLION REPORTED BY GLASS

Report of the Secretary of the Treasury Submitted to Congress Shows This Condition

43 Per Cent of War Expenditures Met by Current Receipts the Report Shows

RALPH COUCH
(United Press Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 3.—A deficit of more than three billion dollars will show on the books of the government June 30, 1920, at the close of the current fiscal year, Secretary of the Treasury Glass estimated in his annual report to congress today.

A deficit of one and one half billion dollars looms up for the next fiscal year Glass also estimated.

All the figures given by Glass are estimates, or forecasts of conditions, which according to knowledge now on hand, will prevail six months and a year and a half hence. Congress however will use them in revamping tax laws as suggested in President Wilson's message and in paring appropriations.

Starting with a balance of $1,002,720,042 in the treasury at the close of the business year June 30, 1919, Glass' figures are summarized as follows:

Expenditures, $11,476,627,919

Next fiscal year, $13,973,797,985.

Receipts—Receipts for the current fiscal year, $7,318,006,634. Next fiscal year receipts, $5,620,350,000.

Deficit at close of current year $3,155,888,543. Deficit at close of next fiscal year, $1,509,336,628.

Treasury Glass charged as incomplete all items of expenditure and congress may appropriate additional millions. The deficit as estimated may be increased at the time when many citizens complain of taxes as unjustly burdensome.

Receipts estimated by Glass are on the basis of the war tax law under which taxes will be collected for the remainder of the current fiscal year unless congress makes a rapid change.

The law, Glass showed in his report, enabled this government to meet more than 43 per cent of the war expenditures out of current receipts.

Cloture in Senate on Railroad Bill

Is Proposed by Senators Who Desire Early Action on Measure By RAYMOND CLAPPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) Washington, Dec. 3.—Suggestions were made today to Senator Cummins in charge of the railroad bill, that he ask for a cloture on that measure.

Cummins asked that no move be made for a few days. The impression was however that should efforts at prolonged debate appear likely the cloture petition would be circulated, and an attempt made to repeal the action taken during the last hour of the extra session when discussion was up.

The action is aimed at what is believed to be a plan of several senators to talk on the railroad bill because of the anti-strike provision it contains.

Republican leaders are trying to get it on for discussion and action by Christmas time as the president is expected to return the roads by Jan. 1st.

Some senators gained the impression from President Wilson's message that he will defer the date for the return of the roads. He will address congress later on this question.

Busy on President's Recommendations

Program of Legislation as Outlined by Him Already in the Making

L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Dec. 3.—Steps were being taken today to make effective at once some of the recommendations President Wilson included in his reconstruction message to congress.

Much of the necessary legislation is already pending. Questions being introduced last session and caught in the jam created by the peace treaty, will be held for the reconstruction program. The president's recommendations as they stand in congress today are as follows:

MRS. INEZ HAYNES IRWIN

Mrs. Inez Haynes Irwin, wife of Will Irwin, author and war correspondent, is in Washington to write the first history of the national woman's party.

dent's recommendations as they stand in congress today are as follows:

The Budget

The house has passed a good bill creating a budget bureau under presidential direction and an independent auditing system. A resolution eliminating the seven appropriation committees of the house and substituting one committee, will be considered as soon as the senate passes the budget bill, it was stated today.

Labor

Senator Sterling of South Dakota said today that he will soon reintroduce his bill for compulsory investigation and mediation of industrial disputes.

Unrest

Immediate action will be sought on the Sterling bill empowering the country to deal with anarchists, bolsheviks and reds generally, Senator Sterling announced.

High Cost of Living

A bill to regulate cold storage, packers and interstate distribution of food and extending the Lever food control act is pending before the agricultural committee of both houses.

Income Tax

Simplification of income and profit taxes as urged by President Wilson is necessary, Rep. Mondell, majority leader of the house agreed today.

Soldiers Aid

Republican Leader Mondell today expressed his gratefulness at President Wilson's support of his measure to enable soldiers to get land.

Restoration of Peace

The repeal of war time legislation was discussed but no immediate action upon the treaty or upon Sen. Lodge's resolution today appears likely.

Carlisle Trapped in Laramie Wilds

Escaped From Wyoming Penitentiary November 15 in Box Shipped From Shirt Factory

Douglas, Wyo., Dec. 2.—William Carlisle, train bandit, again is a prisoner tonight under guard in the Douglas hospital where he is suffering from a bullet hole in the right lung. He was shot down by Sheriff A. S. Roach of Wheatland this afternoon after he had been surrounded in the cabin of Frank Williams, 18 miles southwest of here.

Carlisle's trail through a heavy snow in the Laramie Peak country was followed from early Sunday morning by two posses of 20 men. The train bandit escaped from the posse earlier today, jumping from a window of the Widow Bray's ranch home as the posse members entered. He was captured at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Carlisle had been in the Laramie Peak country since his escape after robbing the Los Angeles Limited train near Medicine Bow on Nov. 18. Letters and telegrams purporting to have been from the bandit in Denver and other parts of the country were frauds. He made no attempt to conceal his identity.

Mexico Has Not Changed its Attitude in the Jenkins Case

The Mexican Foreign Minister Declared in an Exclusive Interview by United Press

By RALPH TURNER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Mexico City, Mexico, Dec. 3.—The Mexican government has not changed its attitude in the Jenkins case. This declaration was made by Hilario Medina, acting foreign minister in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"Mexico's position is the same today as stated in its recent note to the United States," said Medina. "We outlined the facts then and they are unchanged. It is true relations are delicate, but not so critical as to cause a break."

Medina said he must reserve the opinion regarding the later note, which reiterated that Wm. O. Jenkins, consular agent, must be released from the Pueblo jail. He could not indicate Mexico's reply he said because it would only show the most careful deliberations and expressed a belief that the American government had been misinformed regarding the circumstances of the Jenkins case and misunderstood Mexico's position.

The minister said he wished to make plain that the Mexican government is not accusing Jenkins but that the case was one instituted in the local court at Pueblo, and that the decision rested with them. Referring to the contention that the case belongs to the federal court Medina said it was possible it would go there, but the question of jurisdiction would have to be decided by the supreme court. This was the first intimation that such a course was contemplated. He did not know when a ruling would be made.

Charges Against Jenkins Changed Frequently

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 3.—Timely intervention by the American government alone halted the efforts of Pueblo officials to railroad Wm. O. Jenkins, American consular agent to prison.

This was the declaration here today of J. J. Marshall, export manager of a large American manufacturing company, who has lived at the Jenkins home in Pueblo for the last two months.

"Jenkins did not have any more to do with the charges made against him than I did. As a matter of fact," Marshall declared, "the charges against him were changed so often that Jenkins himself did not know half the time what the new ones were."

"At the time they had Jenkins in prison charged with abducting himself they had a lawyer named Novoa imprisoned for abducting Jenkins and then arrested the watchman at the Jenkins plant and charged him as an accomplice."

Mexico Has Not Released Jenkins

Washington, Dec. 3.—Senator Fall's special Mexican investigating committee is later to report on the advisability of armed intervention by the United States, committee members said today.

Senator Fall, just back from the border, had a long conference with Secretary Lansing. Fall said later his committee can make a partial report on matters which were given them for investigation by congress, although most of the investigation remains to be done.

Meanwhile Mexico had not replied to Secretary Lansing's second note requesting the release of Jenkins. Another refusal to free Jenkins would not surprise the state department, it was learned. Such a refusal would make the situation sufficiently serious to be called to the attention of President Wilson and his cabinet.

Germany Must Reduce Armament Before Treaty is Effective

Sever Relations With Mexico

And Withdraw Recognition of Carranza Government is Proposed By Resolution in Senate

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 3.—A resolution directing President Wilson to sever all diplomatic relations with Mexico immediately and withdraw the government's recognition of Carranza, was introduced in the senate by Senator Fall of New Mexico.

Fall's resolution also would put congress on record as backing up the state department's action in the Jenkins case.

The resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee. Fall declared that evidence had been obtained that will astound the country when it is produced.

He declared that the Mexican embassy at Washington, the Mexican consuls in New York and San Francisco and consuls along the border, are constantly stirring up revolution and bolshevik ideals. Carranza is behind this propaganda he declared.

Senator Shields declared today a resolution by Senator Ashurst directing the war department to send troops to the border did not go far enough, and that it should be changed to declare war on Mexico.

"For the last five years there has been ample cause for us to go to war," Shields said.

Jenkins' Captor Surrenders to Gov.

(By United Press)

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 3.—Cordova, the Pueblo bandit who captured Jenkins, has surrendered to the Mexican government, according to information reaching here late yesterday.

He is reported to have surrendered Saturday in the city of Pueblo, and is reported to have given himself up when he learned he was partly responsible for the cause of present complications with the United States.

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 21. Gen. Leonard Wood was endorsed for president of the United States early tonight by the republican state convention, after a spirited struggle in which Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, came out second best. While the republicans were meeting in one legislative chamber at the state capitol, the democratic state convention in the opposite chamber endorsed President Wilson for a third term by an unanimous vote.

Under the Richards state primary law, the county delegations cast their vote on the basis of their voting strength at the last state election and a majority was necessary to endorse or nominate. Wood received 28,599 votes from the republican majority and Lowden got 15,442. The necessary majority was 25,558.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Politicians in Washington today are awaiting the reaction of the nation to the endorsement of President Wilson for a third term by the democratic state convention in South Dakota.

That the president would be a candidate is deemed extremely unlikely as his health would not permit a campaign, it is understood.

If he is endorsed, he would regard his endorsement as an endorsement of his administration, and if it is regarded favorably by members of his party throughout the country, it is likely the president would be encouraged to give his backing to a democratic candidate, probably McAdoo, who would run on a platform of a good business administration, and ratification of the peace treaty, if it is still hanging fire.

British ships now in port are bunkered for the round trip and all of the large foreign liners have already made provision for supplying the vessels in their home ports, it was stated.

The bride is one of the most popular and winsome young ladies of the community, a graduate of the local high school and for some time past has been employed in the office of the county auditor. The groom is a promising young man engaged in the newspaper business in Minneapolis.

The bride wore a dress of taupe panzer velvet trimmed with squirrel fur and her flowers were brides roses. She selected as her maid of honor Miss Irene Peterson of Minneapolis, who wore a dress of plum chiffon velvet and wore pink roses. Floyd Hall was the groom's best man.

At 12 o'clock a sumptuous wedding banquet was served at the bride's home.

The bride and groom were recipients of many choice wedding gifts. They will spend their honeymoon at the groom's home in Wisconsin. They will be at home to their many friends at Minneapolis after December 15th.

Light Beam as Telephone Wire

Dr. A. O. Rankine of University college, London, has succeeded in devising a method by which it is possible to talk along a beam of light—natural or artificial—using it as a substitute for a telephone wire, with a receiver at one end and a transmitter at the other. The operation of the device is quite simple. A mirror reflects a beam of light and by means of selenium and electrical apparatus the vibrations of the voice are carried along the beam of light, and are reproduced at the receiving end. "It is absolutely impossible to listen in," and only the destruction of the mirror can stop the conversation.

A Cheerful Recommendation

"They should be in every traveling man's grip," writes Geo. Jenner, 416 Labor St., San Antonio, Tex., of Foley Cathartic Tablets. "They are the best laxative I have taken and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with constipation or biliousness." They cleanse bowels, sweeten stomach, benefit liver. H. P. Dunn.

GETTING "HEP" TO THE GOOD EATS

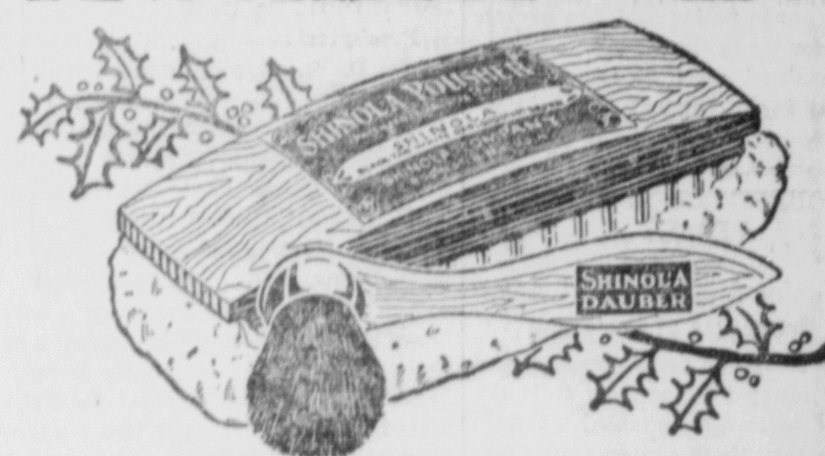

A Host of Dyspeptics Can Get Back to the Old Days of Freedom by the Simple Expedient of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals

"Gosh! I never knew before how good these little pork sausages were." Thus says the man who thought his stomach was gone for all time but who tried the simple expedient of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after eating. And with this for a starter, he goes in for a cheese sandwich, a piece of hot mince pie, eats ham and eggs—in fact he forgets his stomach and thinks only of the energy and good feeling that follow eating the foods that make most people ravenously hungry even to think of them. And all of this without sour risings, no gas, no belching and none of that drowsy heaviness that so often follows indigestion. Try these tablets extensively wherever good eaters are found and are on sale almost everywhere in the United States and Canada.

SENIORS PRESENT PENNANT To the Juniors in Interclass Basketball Championship Series

Sad and mournful! The Senior class of the Brainerd high school presented the inter-class basketball championship pennant to the Juniors. The presentation was given in the form of a funeral. The funeral procession marched around the assembly weeping and wailing.

James Mahlum, president of the Senior class, gave a speech congratulating the Juniors upon their victory. He then called upon various members of the teams for remarks. Captain Martin Rozenberg took the pennant from the coffin and placed it upon the wall saying, as he did so, that he hoped they would be as successful in bringing it with them to the Senior room next year. Due to a mistake, however, it proved to be the Stock Judging pennant of 1916, but the real pennant was soon resurrected and replaced the one they did not win and were not worthy of.

Captain Clarence Sheffo made a speech accepting it. The Seniors sang a song to the tune of "I'll Say She Does."

Do they know how to play basketball? We'll say they do.

Did they win the games one and all? We'll say they did.

And have they got the pep? And did they make us step? Did they? We'll say they did? And do they crave the pennant every-thing?

We'll say they do. And did they grab it on the wing? We'll say they did.

Can they play? I should say! Can they win the pennant any old day?

Can they? We'll say they can. This was followed by a yell for Juniors. The assembly then joined and gave a yell for the Seniors.

Old Greeks Had Small Heads. The ancient Greeks, one of the most intellectual of nations, were distinguished for their small heads.

Other meetings are being arranged throughout the city.

Potent Persian Liquor.

Almost every Persian household has the facilities for making "maul-hyat." Being distilled from fermented orange peel it is full of intoxicating, as well as fiery, qualities. It is very quick in action and the traveler to Persia who takes a drink of this strong potent without knowing its "knock-out" nature has a big surprise in store when he wakes up next morning with a headache and a memory of what he has taken the evening before.

Norman Kings

The names of the early dukes of Normandy, as well as their family history, are known but very dimly; and it may be as well that it should be so, for their descent does not seem to have been as orthodox as it might. Be that as it may, the dukes appear in such reliable annals of their times as we possess, under their Christian names only.

Thus, William I of England (William the Conqueror) was the illegitimate son of his predecessor, Robert the Devil, and of a young woman of Flanders, a tanner's daughter named Arletta, or (as some say) Herleva. The birth records of Robert's predecessors, Richard the Good, Richard the Fearless and William Longsword, were equally smirched; and of the parentage of Raoul or Rolla (christened "Robert"), the first duke of Normandy of whom we have any historical knowledge, we have no data whatever.

Cheer Up and Gear Up.

It takes cheer and gear to make this old world go. The average man has so many things that hold him back that he is in danger of giving up. But the great men of the age are the product of trial. They come through the furnace tried and fitted for life's obstacles because they have dared face the up-grades with a smile. Emerson says, "Nature, when she adds difficulties, adds brains." That may not seem to be true while we are under trial, but the saying holds in the long run. And, besides brains, you must have a reasonable measure of good cheer. It's so easy to go down because there is nothing in the mind to add resistance to the constant thud of adversity. You must cheer up as well as gear up if you are going to win.

She Had a Different Ambition.

When William Wilberforce, the reformer, was a candidate for parliament his sister, an amiable and witty young lady, offered the compliment of a new gown to each of the wives of those freemen who voted for her brother, on which she was saluted with a cry of "Miss Wilberforce forever!" when she pleasantly observed: "I thank you, gentlemen, but I cannot agree with you; for really I do not wish to be Miss Wilberforce forever!"

PRIMER ON WORLD WAR IS COMPILED

OFFICIAL BOOKLET THAT TELLS OF FIGHTING RECORD OF AMERICANS ABROAD.

TWO IN THREE SAW ACTION

Twenty-Nine of Our 42 Divisions Took Part in Active Combat Service—Yanks in Thirteen Major Operations.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—A sort of primer on the world war, a summary that may be used in public schools, has been compiled by the war department. It shows that two out of every three American soldiers who reached France took part in battle. The number who reached France was 2,084,000, and of these 1,390,000 saw active service in the front line. American combat forces were organized into divisions, which consisted of some 28,000 officers and men. These were the largest on the western front, since the British division numbered about 15,000 and those of the French and Germans about 12,000 each. There were sent overseas 42 American divisions and several hundred thousand supplementary artillery and service of supply troops. Of the 42 divisions that reached France 29 took part in active combat service, while the others were used for replacements or were just arriving during the last month of hostilities. The battle record of the United States army in this war is largely the history of these 29 combat divisions. Seven of them were regular army divisions, 11 were organized from the national guard, and 11 were made up of national army troops.

American combat divisions were in battle for 200 days, from the 25th of April, 1918, when the first regular division, after long training in quiet sectors, entered an active sector on the Picardy front, until the signing of the armistice. During these 200 days they were engaged in 13 major operations, of which 11 were joint enterprises with the French, British and Italians, and two were distinctively American.

All 29 in Action at Once.

At the time of their greatest activity in the second week of October all 29 American divisions were in action. They then held 101 miles of front, or 23 per cent of the entire allied battle line. From the middle of August until the end of the war they held, during the greater part of the time, a front longer than that held by the British. Their strength tipped the balance of man power in favor of the allies, so that from the middle of June, 1918, to the end of the war the allied forces were superior in number to those of the enemy.

The total advances of all the American divisions amounted to 782 kilometers, or 485 miles, an average advance for each division of 17 miles, nearly all of it against desperate enemy resistance. They captured 63,000 prisoners, 1,378 pieces of artillery, 708 trench mortars and 9,650 machine guns. In June and July they helped to shatter the enemy advance toward Paris and to turn retreat into a triumphant offensive. At St. Mihiel they pinched off in a day an enemy salient which had been a constant menace to the French line for four years. In the Argonne and on the Meuse they carried lines which the enemy was determined to hold at any cost, and cut the enemy lines of communication and supply for half the western battle front.

American troops saw service on practically every stretch of the western front from British lines in Belgium to inactive sectors in the Vosges. On October 21, 1917, Americans entered the line in the quiet Toul sector. From that date to the armistice American units were somewhere in line almost continuously. It is difficult to cut up the year and 22 days which intervened into well-defined battles, for in a sense the entire war on the western front was a single battle. It is possible, however, to distinguish certain major operations or phases of the greater struggle.

In Thirteen Major Operations.

Thirteen such operations have been recognized in which American units were engaged, of which 12 took place in the western front and one in Italy. Battle-clasps will be awarded to the officers and men who participated in these engagements. These battles and the number of Americans engaged are as follows: Somme, March 21 to April 6, 2,200 men engaged; Lys, April 9 to 27, 500 men engaged; Alsace, May 27 to June 5, 27,500 men engaged; Nogent-Montdidier, June 9 to 15, 27,000 men engaged; Champagne-Marne, July 15 to 18, 85,000 men engaged; Alsace-Marne, July 18 to August 6, 270,000 men engaged; Somme, August 8 to November 11, 54,000 men engaged; Ypres-Lys, August 19 to November 11, 108,000 men engaged; St. Mihiel, September 12 to 16, 600,000 men engaged; Meuse-Argonne, September 20 to November 11, 1,200,000 men engaged, and Vittorio Veneto, October 24 to November 4, 1,200 men engaged.

The first major operation in which American troops were engaged was the Chantrel battle at the end of the campaign in 1917. Scattering medical and engineering detachments, serving with the British, were present during the action, but sustained no serious casualties.

Neat Picture Framing.

If you do your own picture framing, first of all be sure that the glass is immaculately clean next to the picture. Then next to the picture lay a piece of paper, then a layer of cardboard, and weight it while you drive in the tiny nails to the sides of the frame. The frame should be laid on something soft while this is being done, and against something hard while the nails are driven in. When the picture is placed, paste a piece of heavy paper over the back of the entire frame, and insert screw-eyes to hold the picture wire or cord. Pictures are always hung, now, flat on the wall.

Pine Stumps Worth Millions.

Norway pine stumps obstructing agricultural development in northern Minnesota potentially are worth about $300,000,000, according to the state auditor.

"Distillation of pine stumps is a problem of recent development," he said. "It is done to secure various ingredients of great commercial value. Experiments have proven pine stumps on cut-over northern Minnesota lands are exceptionally rich in resins and adapted to the manufacture of turpentine, pine tar, pine creosote, pine oil and similar products. A company is being formed to establish a plant in the northern part of the state."

Hats Eight Feet High.

During their ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world—a headdress varying from six to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring.

Why So Many Americans Are Physical Wrecks at 50--

Physician Explains How Signs of Age Creep Into Your System When The Iron In Your Blood Runs Low—Says: Weak, Nervous, Run-Down People Should Take Nuxated Iron To Steady the Nerves, Restore Wasted Tissue and Aid in Giving Renewed Force and Power to the Body.

Are you slipping at 50? Can you actually stand what you could twenty years ago when your strength and energy are put to the test? Or do you merely THINK you are "just as good" in "iron"—through your veins? Or is it merely a passage for thin, pale, watery blood without enough red corpuscles to keep your body strong and well?

These are the questions put by Dr. H. B. Vall, formerly Physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner, who contends that a man's age can no longer be measured by the number of his years but by the condition of his blood. Dr. Vall believes that the greatest problem of modern life is to ward off the tragedy of middle age, which begins to show its signs the moment the iron in the blood runs low.

Continuing, Dr. Vall says: "There are thousands whose bodies are aging and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect bodily health which cries defiance to disease simply because they are not aware to the condition of their blood. By allowing it to remain thin, pale and watery they are not giving the natural life forces of the body a chance to do their work. Yet others go through life apparently possessing, year after year, the elasticity, the strength and the energy of earlier days, for through their bodies courses the energy and power that comes from plenty of red blood—dotted with strong-giving iron. Iron is red blood food and in my experience I have found no better means for building up the red blood corpuscles and helping to give increased power to the blood than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which I have prescribed with surprising success for my patients who are approaching middle life."

Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of the City of New York, says: "It is surprising how many people who do not get along in life are in reality suffering from iron deficiency and do not know it. To supply this lack of iron and help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I believe that physicians should, at every opportunity, prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older iron compounds it is easily assimilated and does not cause constipation and entirely non-harmful. It is a powerful purgative and goes down. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Does Middle Age Find You Standing On The Precipice Of Uncertainty—Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron? Blinded by the belief that he is still "just as good as ever," many a man reaches that point of life between 40 and 50 where the future looks bright and assured only to find that the grim relentless force of middle age has undermined his health and energy. In the rush and tear of modern day life he has neglected to keep his blood filled with strength-giving iron, and as a result is on the verge of a physical and nervous breakdown, at a time when he should be enjoying his best years. Physicians explain here why such men need the sustaining health-building power of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help make rich red blood, restore wasted tissue and increase their physical strength and endurance.
